

MAN TRIES TO BREAK IN PRISON AND CAN'T

Smashes R. O. Window and Leaves Card, but Sheriff
Says Nix

Warden William H. Meyer, of the federal prison, and the spirit of O. Henry should mutually rejoice over J. H. Pendley, of Lithuania. For Pendley has repeated in real life O. Henry's story of the man who could not get arrested, and he has openly asserted his love for the federal prison as an ideal abiding place. Pendley, it is said, served two years in the federal prison, and now is wild to get back again to that home of steel and stone. But like O. Henry's tramp, he long arm of the law deliberately refuses to grasp him.

Saturday night, Pendley was arrested by a deputy marshal in Decatur, charged with looting around the railroad station. The marshal carried him to the Decatur jail.

Sheriff J. A. McGurdy, of Dekalb county, turned Pendley out of the jail, telling him to beat it. Sheriff McGurdy said the jail was full to overflowing Saturday night, and there was no room for a new prisoner.

With visions of a more hospitable prison before his eyes, a warm prison, where a hot and cold meal and work were supplied one, a prison which had held him safe from the world for two short years, Pendley set about getting back into Warden Meyer's clasp.

He went to the postoffice in Decatur, here, in defiance of the federal laws, he broke a window in the window.

He placed his whole library—a pocket dictionary—with his name and address on the window. Then he conspicuously left again in the warm sitting room of the station, and told some of his fellow hangers-on about his feat.

Sheriff McGurdy, through one of his deputies, was soon informed of the incident, with Pendley's name found in the postoffice, but took no steps to apprehend him.

"I know what he was up to," said Sheriff McGurdy. "I knew his record. He was out two years for breaking into an postoffice, cut a hole in an empty mail sack, put his name and address on a piece of paper in the sack, and waited around to be arrested. He was arrested, turned over to the federal authorities, and sent up for two years. He has, since getting out, told people how easy he was to get back in. As some of the federal officers have sworn out a warrant for him, I don't think it's up to me, under the circumstances, to arrest him again on the same federal charge."

Monday night Pendley, having come to Atlanta, and finding the mercury too low for comfort on the streets, walked up to Patrolman Clark on Peachtree street. He asked the patrolman to arrest him. Clark carried him down to the police station, where Pendley eagerly told the officers of how he broke into the Decatur postoffice.

"CAN'T BREAK IN." The sergeant telephoned Sheriff McGurdy at Decatur, while Pendley's eyes shone with happiness. At last he was going back to his dear federal prison! But it was not to be. Sheriff McGurdy told the Atlanta police the facts in Pendley's case, and said he would not come to get him unless the federal authorities or some one else swore out a warrant.

So Pendley easily stayed for one short night in the Atlanta barracks as a sleeper, leaving early in the morning with the other one-night transients.

In O. Henry's story, the tramp, after telling by every means to provoke New York policeman into arresting him, is captured by music from "the little church around the corner," to take a new lease on life and become a real man again. Just then a hand grips him on the shoulder, and a blue-coated man is him for looting around the church. If Pendley's unfinished story finally ends like this, O. Henry should indeed sit up in his grave.

BIG TIM'S FRIENDS WILL GET CHRISTMAS SHOES

Half Brother of Late Political Leader Takes Up Charity
Work

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—In memory of Timothy D. Sullivan, who was known as "Big Tim" on the Bowery, where he was the chief political leader for many years, hundreds of homeless men will enjoy a feast on Christmas and go away with a ticket for a new pair of shoes, the gift of the Good Leaders of the Sullivan political organization. In giving the dinner Sullivan's friends keep up an annual custom started many years ago, by "Big Tim."

"I know what he was up to," said Sheriff McGurdy. "I knew his record. He was out two years for breaking into an postoffice, cut a hole in an empty mail sack, put his name and address on a piece of paper in the sack, and waited around to be arrested. ## ATLANTA HOMES OPENED TO GIRLS OUT OF WORK

Appeal of Dr. Flinn Meets With Ready and Willing Response

Hundreds of dollars in cash and the efforts of several homes to aid the poor and needy of the city, followed the appeal of Dr. Richard Orme Flinn to his congregation at the North Avenue Presbyterian church, Sunday morning.

The appeal was the result of a meeting of the Evangelical Ministers' association Monday a week ago, when it was decided that each member should make a direct appeal to his congregation.

Dr. Flinn reminded his congregation that when denominationalism prevailed the church and the people suffered, but now was an opportune time to manifest the spirit of brotherly love and come forward with their bounty.

Five subscriptions of $50 each quickly followed his appeal. Many more of lesser amounts were also offered. The exact amount will be announced on next Sunday morning by the pastor.

The offers most appreciated by the church are those which opened homes to the poor girls of the city who are out of employment and without homes. One woman offered to take four girls for an indefinite period; another said she would take one, still another said she would provide for four girls, and one man said he would take two.

Another man offered a vacant twenty-room house to Dr. Flinn for an indefinite period, for the housing of the poor. Upon his returning home, Dr. Flinn was called to the phone by a debutante of the congregation who offered to lend her aid in organizing a debutante helping league. She proposed to ask the girls of her set to forego the trills and trappings and to help in providing homes for the homeless girls of Atlanta.

A special committee of thirty women of the church is working in conjunction with the Associated Charities. These women select individual cases and seek to aid them in every way possible.

Dr. Flinn is gratified at the generous

POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN MAY BE INSURED BY CITY

Accident Policies Proposed to Board of Firemasters by Chairman Armistead

The city will pay accident insurance in the sum of $2,000 for each member of the fire and police departments if an ordinance proposed by Chairman J. W. Armistead, at a meeting of the board of firemasters Tuesday, is adopted by next year's council.

Mr. Armistead told the firemasters he has already asked insurance men to figure the cost to the city, which will be comparatively small, for carrying both the two departments, so that an official provision for the widows of men killed or maimed in the service of the city can be made.

WEST VIEW FLORIST HOLDING FLOWER SHOW

Lovers of flowers are finding much to admire in the show that is being held at West View florist's place on Peachtree street. This popular flower concern has a showing that will make the heart of any woman beat a little faster, and that will make the men look with admiration on the displays that have been arranged there. Flowers for the Christmas holidays are there by the basketful, and the prices, as Manager John Wilson says, are as low as the lowest.—(Adv.)

STATE MAY BE ABLE TO PAY ITS TEACHERS SOON

Another Small Installment on 1914 Salaries Is Probable

There is a slim chance that the state's public school teachers will get another small installment on their 1914 salaries before or immediately after Christmas. So far this year only 20 per cent of the public school appropriation has been paid. The appropriation for the year, which goes chiefly for the payment of teachers' salaries, amounts to $2,500,000. Only $500,000 has been paid the teachers and this was paid in two installments.

There is now about $250,000 in the state treasury over and above the funds allotted to be on hand on the first of January for the payment of the state's bonded indebtedness and sinking fund account.

Although this $250,000 will not go far when divided among the thousands of school teachers, the governor hopes, it is said, that the amount on hand will increase from county treasurers' returns in the next day or two and that he will be able at least to pay the teachers a small installment.

Monday the governor signed a warrant for $14,000, which will, it is said, pay up all the remaining unpaid portions of 1914. Of this amount, $44,000 will go to those pensioners who came in under the deficiency pension appropriation passed by the general assembly a year or so ago, and the balance comes from pensions unclaimed and refunded by the pension commission.

ABLE-BODIED PRISONERS SHOULD BE ON ROADS

Members of the state prison commission are early proponent these days, and it is all because the judges of the state persist in sending able-bodied prisoners to the state farm instead of putting them on the public roads.

Chairman R. E. Davidson said Tuesday morning that there are now more than 800 prisoners at the state farm, whereas a few years ago there were only 300.

"We are being sorely pressed for funds with which to maintain the state prison farm and our accommodations for prisoners are already overtaxed," said Chairman Davidson.

It is reported at the office of the prison commission that the number of prisoners now being sent to the farm average about ten a day; that it is necessary to send a guard for every prisoner; that the department must pay the various railroad fares back and forth of the guard and the fare of the prisoner to the farm and also furnish the prisoner with a new outfit of clothing on his arrival there.

ANOTHER FAKE HOLDUP UNCOVERED BY POLICE

Clyde Sparks Admits Two Reports He Made Were Not True

Another fake hold up came to light Tuesday morning when Clyde Sparks, of 211 Rawson street, admitted to Recorder Johnson that two reports made by him to the police some days ago were fiction.

One of these reports was that he had been held up on Washington street, and robbed of $5, the other, which followed close behind the first, was that he had been held up on Washington street and robbed of $75. Sparks gave no reason for making the reports.

His arraignment before the recorder was in connection with his arrest "on suspicion." The recorder placed him on probation.

Chief Beavers says a good many of the hold ups reported to the police will not bear investigation.

STOLEN JEWELS ARE RECOVERED BY POLICE

Two Negroes Held for Robbing Home of Mrs. Henry Johnson, 695 Peachtree

Through the work of city detectives, valuable jewels stolen three weeks ago from Mrs. Henry Johnson, 695 Peachtree street, have been recovered and two suspects arrested, according to the police.

The jewels were found in pawn shops. The detectives who worked the case are John Black, Bill Harper, S. P. Cobb, E. P. Davis and J. J. Cowan. Champ Andrews and Jim Speer, both of whom are being held as suspects and will be tried Tuesday afternoon, were the ones who stole the jewels.

FORMER SENATOR WEST DIES AT VALDOSTA HOME

United States Senator Bacon's Successor Found Dead in Bed

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 22.—William Stanley West, who succeeded Senator A. O. Bacon in the United States senate under appointment of Governor Slaton, was found dead in his bed this morning at 6 o'clock. He had been dead probably two hours. His death occurred without a struggle and was not known to his wife and little son, who occupied the same room, until they got up.

Colonel West went to his farm twelve miles below the city yesterday and became ill there. He returned to the city about dark. A physician was summoned and an examination showed that his blood pressure was very high. The doctor gave him a prescription and when he retired last night he was feeling very well.

Mr. West had been getting up early in the morning and going to his farm, but owing to his indisposition last night, Mrs. West did not disturb him this morning. She got out of the room as quietly as possible, but later went to the room and found him lifeless.

Mr. West was one of the most prominent men in Georgia and Florida. He owned large lumber and land interests in Florida and had been identified with the industry of that state for twenty years or more. He was reared in Georgia, received his education at Mercer university, wearing his way through college when he was nearly thirty years old. He taught school in different sections of south Georgia and was teaching in Echols county when he was married to Miss Lee Cranford, one of his former pupils.

His wife, with one son, William S. West, Jr., a lad of twelve years, survive him. Colonel West was apparently in the best of health and spirits yesterday.

His home here was one of the handsomest in Georgia. Colonel West was noted for his philanthropic enterprises. He educated a number of boys and girls and was liberal in church matters. The funeral arrangements have not been perfected yet.

Gov. Slaton's Tribute
To Former Senator
When informed of former Senator West's death Governor Slaton paid the following tribute to his memory:
"I have known Senator W. S. West intimately since 1896, when I served with

HOBSON AMENDMENT WILL BE DEFEATED, IS GENERAL BELIEF

dollars' worth of property and the increase of taxes through the elimination of sums now paid as internal revenue. He told the southern Democrats that if they supported the Hobson resolution they would "turn over to the federal government the rights of the people of the various states to control their own personal and social habits."

Representative Keller, Progressive, supported the rule and the resolution.

OPPOSITE AMENDMENT
Representative Pule, of North Carolina, "Believing that this is a matter which should be left entirely to the states I shall vote against this rule."

Representative Pule added: "I believe we are lighting the fires of a controversy which will burn in this country for a generation. In my judgment there is not a man now in this hall who will be alive when this state ratifies this amendment."

Pule said he favored prohibition, but believed "the state is the largest efficient unit in the enforcement of a prohibition law."

Representative Kent, of California, urged that the states were competent to deal with the question without federal assistance.

Representative Coady, of Maryland, opposed the proposal because of loss of revenue.

NUBANCE, DECLARES HOBSON.
Representative Hobson began debate on his resolution. He declared a state has a right to be free from the liquor business was an "interstate nuisance," and that there never had been a serious conflict between federal and state laws for protection of the people's morals.

He portrayed the devastating effect of liquor, "a habit-forming drug whose shackled victims," he said, "today number 6,000,000 people."

"It shortens life and blights the offspring," he continued, "and brings hundreds of thousands of people to drunken graves each year. It blights the lives of people before they are born."

Representative Hobson spoke only ten minutes, then began to parcel out his members who spoke in support of his resolution.

UNDERWOOD RAPS GEORGIA.
Mr. Underwood declared prohibition would cost the American people $225,000,000 in lost revenue. He said that of the $734,673,000 of ordinary receipts of the government the last fiscal year, $245,400,000, or 33 per cent was from internal revenue and customs taxes from malt and vinous liquor. State taxes, he said, produced $19,000,000, county taxes $6,000,000 more and revenue in incorporated places of $2,000,000, or more aggregated $26,000,000.

He declared that in Georgia with its state-wide prohibition, there was as much liquor consumed as in Alabama. "Boot-legging, they say, is the greatest evil of the liquor traffic," he said, "in prohibition Georgia there were 800 cases of boot-legging last year; in non-prohibition Alabama only 100 cases. Prohibition does not prohibit." GEORGIA ENFORCED LAW. Representative Adamson said it might be there were more convictions in Georgia than in Alabama, and if so, it was because Georgia voted for prohibition and enforced the law. He said that an "between the bar rooms and damnation and prohibition and salvation, I stand with the drys and not with the wets." He proposed an amendment designed to conserve state regulation of the use of liquor.

—Great clusters of red carnations lent their spicy fragrance to the artistically decorated rooms and other flowers used to suggest the bright holiday colors of red and green were baskets of poinsettias, holly branches and red roses, overhead the chandeliers were festooned with garlands of smilax and sprays of mistletoe and the lights had red silk shades.

Following supper a dance was held at the residence across the street owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Evans. An avenue of Christmas trees created the guests, each tree laden with favors used in the dances which formed a bright diversion. In one figure birds and animals were matched and in another pink hearts and rings. Quaint souvenirs in one dance were little bonnets and old-fashioned hats, and at the close of the evening a shower of butterflies and red flowers descended upon the guests.

Beautiful dance music was furnished by a stringed orchestra.

Miss Brown wore a girlish gown of bright yellow tulle draped with pink green tulle over a foundation of pink charmeuse, and Miss Davis' dancing gown was white satin unembroidered with gold beads with overdresses of chiffon bordered with ostrich feathers.

A Christmas Legend

When borne upon the silent night—
Long centuries ago,
There came the ring of bride reins,
And voices hushed and low,
She hastened to her door to see
What price or promise
Upon the road to Bethlehem
Was journeying so late.

"O whither dost thou go with gifts,
In pomp so great?" she cried,
"We follow yonder shining star."
A bearded king replied,
"It leads us to the babe, new born,
And in a manger laid."

Who escapes to save the wicked world,
Pray join our cavalcade.
"First I must sweep the ashes up,
And put the bread to rise,
Then I will follow, too," she said,
"The glory in the skies."

But when the pots and pans were scoured
And hearth and table cleared,
Behold! the east was dark again,
The star had disappeared.

When long and sweet the Christmas bells
Chime out from tower and town,
Still seeking for the infant Christ,
She wanders up, and down,
Her arms are full of cakes and toys,
Her weary feet are sore,
The snow is on her old gray head,
She knocks at every door.

When fair and frosty falls the eve
Of His nativity,
She fills the children's stockings up,
And decks the Christmas tree,
No little one is overlooked,
From vale to mountain high,
Lost one might be the Holy Child,
And she might pass Him by.
